Law Practice Certificate Requirements

Claimant has not given notice of the claim and retains a law practice.

LPC to be completed and given to the claimant before the claimant gives notice of the claim pursuant to section 8C of PIPA

Claimant has given notice of the claim under section 9 prior to retaining a law practice, then retains law practice.

LPC to be completed within one month after the law practice is retained and given to the respondent pursuant to section 9C of PIPA

- LPC to be completed as soon as practicable after the offer or counter offer is accepted or judgement is given; AND
- Within 7 days after the acceptance or judgement, given to:
 - the respondent; and
 - a copy to the claimant; and
 - a copy to the respondent's insurer (where the respondent's insurer responded to part 1 of the claimant's notice of claim or the respondent has given details of the respondent's insurer to the claimant)

See s61(1)(a) and (b) PIPA

INJURY/INCIDENT OCCURS

Claimant decides to commence a claim

NOTICE OF THE CLAIM GIVEN (S9 PIPA)

Claim proceeds

OF CLAIM
Settlement or Judgement

Law practice sells all or part of the business to another law practice and claimant is to be referred to the new practice but has not (or will not) have given notice of the claim under section 9 prior to referral occurring.

LPC to be completed before the referral occurs, and must be given to the new practice and a copy given to the claimant See s8F PIPA

Where notice of claim does not comply

Where a claimant gives notice of claim that does not comply with section 9(2)(c)(i) and the respondent waives compliance with the requirements under division 1AA for giving notice of the claim, or is presumed to be satisfied notice has been given as required under Division 1AA.

Where notice of claim does not comply

Where a claimant gives notice of claim that does not comply with section 9(2)(c)(i) and the respondent waives compliance with the requirements under division 1AA for giving notice of the claim, or is presumed to be satisfied notice has been given as required under Division 1AA.

